

Attestation Process

Estimated time: 15-30 minutes if you have all information needed for the attestation.

Step 1: Confirm Compliance

Review any group health plan contracts to confirm there are no prohibited gag clauses. Alternatively, reach out to all carriers, TPAs and any other service providers and ask for written confirmation that contracts they handle on behalf of the group health plan do not contain any prohibited gag clauses. Such documents should be kept in the employer's files.

Step 2: Website Access

Go to <https://hios.cms.gov/HIOS-GCPCA-UI>

Obtain Unique Authentication Code

- Click on “Don't have a code or forgot yours?”
- Enter an email address and click “Get my unique code”
- Wait approximately 10 minutes and code will appear

Access Attestation Submission Form

- Go back to home submission page to enter email address and code sent via email and login

NOTE: The authentication code will only provide access for 15 days, after which time it would be necessary to obtain a new code (however, previously entered information tied to the email address will be saved).

Step 3: Complete the Attestation Form

From the Gag Clause Prohibition Compliance Attestation (GCPCA) Dashboard, click on “Start a new submission” or “Submit Gag Clause Prohibition Compliance Attestation.” Both boxes/links will take you to the same place, allowing you to begin the attestation process.

The attestation form is made up of 5 sections, and the form must be completed sequentially. It is necessary to complete a section and then click “Save and continue” before you can advance to the next section. It is possible to stop mid-process and then return and complete the other sections later by clicking either “Save and exit” at the end of the current section or by clicking “Return to Gag Clause Attestation dashboard” at the top of the screen. The process can be picked up again at any time by logging in and clicking on the “Submission ID” number on the GCPCA Dashboard.

There are two roles in the attestation process, the Submitter and the Attester, but both roles could be played by the same individual. The Submitter is responsible for initiating the attestation process via CMS' website and entering in the required information about the Submitter, the Attester, and the group health plan. The Attester is responsible for reviewing the information entered and signing off on the group health plan's attestation of compliance with the gag clause prohibition rules. The Attester must have the legal authority to sign for the company (e.g., the person who signs off on the Form 5500 or Form 1094-C).

Submitter Responsibilities

Sections 1 – 3 of the form will be completed by the Submitter. This portion of the form asks for information about the Submitter, the Attester, and about the reporting entity (e.g., employer EIN, group health plan number).

Section 4 is a summary of the information provided in Sections 1 – 3 for the Submitter to review.

After confirming that the information entered is correct, the Submitter will either notify the Attester to review and complete the attestation in Section 5, or if the Submitter is also the Attester, the Submitter should move on to the final section and complete the attestation in Section 5.

Attester Responsibilities

The Attester should review the information in Section 4 to confirm accuracy and then Section 5 must be completed by the Attester (which may be the same individual as the Submitter). This section requires a formal attestation that the information entered is correct along with a signature.

Step 4: Confirm Submission

If the attestation is successfully submitted, the Attester should see a screen indicating the submission was successful along with the date and time. There is an option to download a receipt of the successful submission. It is recommended that the employer download the receipt and keep it in the employer's files.

Screenshots along with further instructions for each of the 5 sections of the form can be found in Appendix A. FAQs can be found in Appendix B.

In addition, you may find the CMS instructions and user manual helpful, both of which can be found on CMS' main information page and within the gag clause attestation portal.

Submit Gag Clause Prohibition Compliance Attestation

1 Enter the Submitter's Contact Information

Enter the name and contact information of the person completing the required fields (and the Excel Template if attesting for multiple Reporting Entities). This person is the "Submitter" and will be contacted in the event we have any questions.

* Submitter first and last name

* Submitter position title

* Submitter e-mail address

* Submitter telephone number

Enter a phone number in the following format: "(xxx) xxx-xxxx".

* Submitter employer name

The Submitter is the individual tasked with filling out information about the group health plan. It could be the Attester, but it might be the broker, employer HR personnel, or someone else who is completing the form prior to the Attester's review and signature.

* By what type of entity are you employed?

You should select all options that apply. For example, if you work for a health insurance issuer that also functions as a Third-Party Administrator for self-insured ERISA plans, and you are submitting an attestation for the issuer and the self-insured ERISA plans, select both "Health Insurance Issuer" and "Third-Party Administrator." In this example, do not select "ERISA Plan (or sponsor of ERISA plan)." As another example, if you are work for a Pharmacy Benefits Manager and you are submitting an attestation on behalf of an issuer with respect to the issuer's pharmacy benefits, select "Pharmacy Benefit Manager." In this example, do not select "Health Insurance Issuer." If you work for a health insurance issuer that is attesting on behalf of a fully-insured group health plan, select "Health insurance issuer." Do not select the applicable type of group health plan. If you work for a plan or issuer that is attesting on its own behalf, select either "Health Insurance Issuer" or the applicable type of group health plan.

- GHP
- Issuer
- Third-party administrator
- Pharmacy benefit manager
- Behavioral health manager
- Other third-party service provider

An employer completing the attestation will typically mark GHP for "group health plan".

2 Enter the Attester's Contact Information

Enter the Attester's name and contact information. This should be the person who will electronically sign the attestation and has the legal authority to attest for or on behalf of the Reporting Entity(ies). In some cases, the Attester and the Submitter are the same person. If they are, select the checkbox below.

Submitter is the same as the Attester

* Attester first and last name

* Attester position title

* Attester e-mail address

* Attester phone number

Enter a phone number in the following format: "(xxx) xxx-xxxx".

The Attester must have the legal authority to sign for the company (e.g., the person who signs off on the Form 5500, Form 1094-C or other tax forms).

The Submitter and the Attester can be the same individual. If that's case, check the box.

If two separate individuals are involved (i.e., a Submitter to fill in the necessary information and an Attester to review and sign), fill in the Attester's information.

3 Enter Reporting Entity Details

Reporting Entity Details

Complete the Reporting Entity Excel Template for all Reporting Entities on whose behalf you are submitting this attestation. The GPCCA Webform instructions provide specific guidance on creating the Reporting Entity tab-delimited text file in sections 2.3 and 2.31. If you are attesting on behalf of a Reporting Entity that you work for as well as other Reporting Entities, include the information for your entity. Only one Reporting Entity per row is permitted. Once the Reporting Entity Excel Template is complete, you must save it as a tab-delimited text file format and upload it here. After successfully uploading the text file, e-mail your completed Reporting Entity Excel Template to the Attester for their review.

The instructions assume that it will be primarily health insurance issuers (carriers) and TPAs that attest on behalf of multiple group health plans (e.g., their book of business), while employers will generally only attest on behalf of a single group health plan. In addition, while we are not aware of any further clarification, it seems reasonable to rely on how the employer's plan(s) are structured via plan documentation. For example, if an employer offers multiple group medical plans, but all of the employer's benefits subject to the attestation have been bundled into a single ERISA plan via a WRAP document, the employer can likely attest to all benefit arrangements at once (i.e., treating them as a single group health plan). It seems likely that most employers will attest on behalf of a single group health plan, in which case the button above would be marked "no". See the next page/screenshot for how to proceed in that case. NOTE: No spreadsheet is required for an employer attesting on behalf of a single group health plan.

In the less common scenario where the employer's various benefits subject to the attestation requirements are not bundled into a single ERISA plan, then the employer may need to attest on behalf of more than one plan and follow the steps for reporting on behalf of multiple plans (via a spreadsheet) similar to what is required of a carrier or TPA reporting on behalf of more than one plan. CMS' user guide provides detailed instructions on how to complete the spreadsheet and upload it into the blue box pictured above.

Choose from the following:

- Health insurance issuer
- Non-federal governmental plan
- ERISA plan
- Church plan

The employer will never choose health insurance issuer. Most employers will choose ERISA plan.

If ERISA plan is selected, a box will appear asking for the ERISA plan number.

Group health plans may have separate contracts in place with carriers (fully-insured), TPAs (self-funded), PBMs and other service providers.

If the employer is attesting as to compliance for all such contracts, the employer should mark "yes".

If the employer is only attesting to contracts with some of its service providers (e.g., because fully-insured carrier or TPA is separately attesting on behalf of the plan), then mark "no" and check the box(es) next to the types of contracts the employer is attesting to.

Appendix B - FAQs

Does the timing of an attestation in one year affect the due date in subsequent years?

The timing of the attestation in one year does not affect the due date for the attestation the next year. The due date will always be December 31. However, the timing of the attestation will affect what period the plan is attesting for. For example, if the attestation is done December 5, 2023, it will be an attestation up through December 5, 2023. When the plan then attests next year (e.g., December 19, 2024), the attestation will cover the time frame December 6, 2023 through December 19, 2024.

See the following FAQ from CMS - <https://www.cms.gov/files/document/aca-part-57.pdf>

Q6: What is the due date for the Gag Clause Prohibition Compliance Attestation?

The first Gag Clause Prohibition Compliance Attestation is due no later than December 31, 2023, covering the period beginning December 27, 2020, or the effective date of the applicable group health plan or health insurance coverage (if later), through the date of attestation. Subsequent attestations, covering the period since the last preceding attestation, are due by December 31 of each year thereafter.

Some have asked whether an attestation must be made within 12 months of the previous attestation. The instructions require subsequent attestations to be filed no later than December 31 of each calendar year and to attest to compliance for the time period since the last attestation. However, there does not appear to be any requirement that a subsequent attestation be made within one year of the prior one.

How many attestations are required on behalf of a single group health plan?

The answer will vary depending upon the group health plan's setup. For example, for a fully-insured plan coordinating solely through a carrier, only a single attestation is generally required (and will likely be handled by the carrier). Similarly, for a self-funded group health plan, the TPA or employer could attest on behalf of all service providers in connection with the plan in a single attestation. However, it is also possible for the employer and/or different service providers to separately attest to compliance on behalf of the plan, resulting in multiple attestations tied to a single group health plan to ensure that there is a complete attestation as to all contracts involved with the group health plan.

There is a question in the submission asking if the attestation is being submitted on behalf of all service providers involved with the plan. If "yes," then only one submission would be required on behalf of the group health plan. If "no," then any service provider that is not part of the attestation would also need to attest, or the employer would need to attest to such contracts being in compliance.

If multiple employers participate in a single group health plan, does each participating employer attest separately?

Reporting is handled on a per plan basis, and therefore reporting is not necessarily required for each participating employer. This determination may be different depending on whether the participating entities form a controlled group due to common ownership (under IRS §414 rules) or whether the plan is multiple employer welfare arrangement (MEWA).

Controlled Group

When entities that are part of the same controlled group share benefit plans, the employers are treated as a single employer. Therefore, a single attestation by whichever company is designated the plan sponsor should be adequate if the attestation covers all service provider contracts tied to the group health plan.

MEWA

When a MEWA is formed, the MEWA may be treated as a single plan at the MEWA level if certain commonality and control requirements are met. However, more often, each participating employer is deemed to have a separate ERISA plan. If there is a single ERISA plan at the MEWA level, a single attestation by the MEWA plan sponsor would be adequate. On the other hand, if each participating employer sponsors a separate ERISA plan, then each participating employer is responsible for ensuring an attestation is submitted on behalf of their plan.

What if an employer changes carriers, TPAs or service providers during the attestation period?

If there was more than one carrier or TPA involved with the group health plan during the attestation period, the employer must ensure that the attestation covers all such contracts. The employer is responsible to confirm that no prohibited gag clauses existed in any applicable contracts with service providers during the attestation period and will need to ensure that all such carriers or TPAs (or other service providers) are attesting on behalf of the plan; alternatively, the employer would need to attest on behalf of any contracts that any of the service providers do not agree to attest to on the employer's behalf.

How is reporting different when an employer has a single group health plan versus multiple group health plans?

When submitting information about the plan, the employer must choose whether reporting is being done on behalf of one group health plan or multiple group health plans. If the reporting is done for a single group health plan, then the required information is entered right within the attestation portal. If the reporting is done for multiple group health plans, then the required information is not entered directly into the attestation portal, but instead is entered into an Excel spreadsheet (one line for each group health plan), and then the Excel spreadsheet is uploaded into the attestation portal.

When must a spreadsheet be included in the attestation?

The spreadsheet is required only when the same reporting entity is attesting to multiple different group health plans. This will often be the case for carriers or TPAs, but perhaps less common for employers. As far as how many "plans" the employer may have to attest on behalf of, the guidance is not super clear. It may be appropriate to consider how the employer's benefits are structured via plan documentation (i.e., how things are viewed for Form 5500 filing purposes). If all the employer's benefits subject to the attestation have been bundled into a single ERISA plan, it is likely reasonable to report on just the one plan and attest to all benefit arrangements at once. In this case, no spreadsheet is required. A spreadsheet is not part of the attestation process for a reporting entity that is attesting on behalf of only a single group health plan. However, if the various benefits/arrangements are not bundled into a single ERISA plan via a WRAP document, then the employer may need to report for each plan separately using the Excel spreadsheet and uploading it as part of the attestation process.

What does "Are you attesting on behalf of all different types of service providers" mean?

This question is not asking about how many different benefits or plans an employer maintains, but instead is asking about the different types of provider agreements related to the employer's group health plan(s). Whether an employer will attest on behalf of all service providers will vary. For example, a single group health plan may have separate contracts in place for its TPA and PBM, in which case there are two different service providers involved with the employer's group health plan. In this example, if the employer is attesting to the agreements in place with the TPA and the PBM, the employer would answer "yes." But if the employer is only attesting to the agreements in place with the PBM (perhaps the TPA is separately attesting to the TPA's agreements with the plan, but is unwilling to attest to PBM contracts for which it is not directly involved), then the employer should answer "no" and then indicate that it is attesting solely on behalf of the PBM agreements.

Should documentation of verification/attestation from a service provider be included in the attestation submission?

There is not an option to upload anything into the attestation portal other than the Excel spreadsheet used when reporting is done for multiple group health plans. Therefore, we assume employers will need to keep in their records any communication with carriers, TPAs, PBMs, and other service providers confirming compliance with the gag clause prohibition.

Are the Submitter and the Attester the same person?

Sometimes, yes. When the employer is handling the attestation on behalf of their group health plan(s), one individual may play both roles as the Submitter and the Attester. It is also possible that an individual that does not have the authority to sign the attestation goes through and fills out all of the required information (playing the role of the Submitter), and then a separate individual with signing authority provides a final review and signature (playing the role of the Attester), in which case there would be two different individuals as the Submitter and Attester.

Is it okay to rely on a carrier's or TPA's attestation?

It should be reasonable to rely on the carrier's or service provider's representation that there are no gag clauses in their contracts. The reality is that the employer's role in negotiating the contracts, and even access to the contracts themselves, may be limited, in which case many employers will have to rely on the service providers' representations.

What is the penalty for noncompliance?

For failure to attest on behalf of a group health plan, the penalties are not clear. The FAQs from the tri-agencies state "Plans and issuers that do not submit their attestation, as required under Code section 9824, ERISA section 724, and PHS Act section 2799A-9, by the deadlines above may be subject to enforcement action." Presumably, they could assess the standard $100 per violation per day excise tax that applies when a plan violates a requirement of the tax code.

Will this make it more likely that carriers and TPAs will share claims data?

Maybe...it may take some additional regulatory guidance and court decisions to force this behavior. It's not perfectly clear what is and is not permitted under the current framework. It is certainly worth pushing back on any refusal to share such information and asking for clarification as to what permits the service provider to avoid providing the information in light of the new gag clause prohibition.
